Thanks for reporting an issue with a buyer

From: eBay
Sent: May-26-22 11:46

We're looking into the problem you reported, Brad.

We're reviewing your report

Hi Brad,

Thanks for letting us know about a buyer who may have been violating our policies. Here's a summary of your report.

Buyer: herringtonelectronics

Reason: Returned a completely different item or an empty box

Comments: A bricked (non-functioning) Asus RT-AX3000 router was returned to me. The device I sold was an ASUS RT-AX58U. It has a different MAC address and different serial number. You can look at the photos in my auction and see this is not the same item. I've sent a legal notice to your customer service via certified mail. Once it I have confirmation you received it I'll be filing suit in small claims court one week later. I'll be adding additional recovery costs for dealing with your incompetence and allowing a buyer to send me a broken item that isn't even the same model of what I sent, and then refunding him money for this broken unrelated item.

We are sorry to hear this has happened. We strive to make eBay a safe place to sell, and so we appreciate your report. If you have not already, please go to your Return Details and ask us to step in and help.
